he committee is fluished in Berlin, the members will divide into several parts, some of whom will visit Vienna and other Austrian and Hungarian cities, while others will go to Italy, Sweden and Switz-criand.

The American World's fair committee had a lengthy conference with Herr Wermuth, the German imperial commissioner, regarding the details of the German exhibit. The principal points were fully and satisfactorily explained to the commissioner. The committee is stull the recipient of much official attention. This evening a dinner was given in their honor by Dr. Von Boettleher, secretary of the imperial home effice. Among the prominent guests were Chancellor Von Caprivi and United States Minister Phelps.

A paper of this city says Chancellor Caprivi told Phelps, American minister, that Emperor William will perhaps visit the World's fair at Chicago. This statement, however, lacks confirmation. The Fossische Zelfsing says: "The idea of holding a world's fair in a country bound by McKinleyism is grotesque. German manufacturers can't hope to obtain a market there. Only Americans will profit by the experience gained in inspecting exhibits, and they will probably then increase the duties."

The reading of the secretary's report incited a vigorous speech from Delegate Campbell, of Philadeiphia. He protested against the further employment of the national organization. Year after year the reports of representatives of subordinate societies were the same old story. "We are doing only moderately well, but we were are doing only moderately well, but we expect to do great things during the coming year." He was thoroughly convinced of the uselesaness of the national organizer's method. The discussion proceeded for two hours or more and finally the whole matter was referred to a committee. Orden City Council

Ogden, Ut., Aug. 5.—[Special telegram to The Henald.]—The adjourned meeting of the city council from Monday evening was called to order at 8:15 last evening, all the members being present except Cannon. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. A petition was re-ceived from residents of Adams avenue between Twenty-sixth and Thirty-third streets, asking to have the street graded and three more electric lights placed at intersections. Also from citizens of Ogden avenue, between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets, asking that the street be graded. From the real estate exchange,

The University Building association asked to have the atreets leading to the university sprinkled twice a week.

The matter of the opening of Thirtieth street was brought up and debated at considerable length, but after an hour or two of discussion, it was referred again to the committee on laws and streets. The timmediate matter under consideration was the opening of Thirtieth street from Washington avenue to Adams avenue. The debate was somewhat bitter and extended, the great point of contention being the cost of the opening of said atreet. This matter has been monkeyed with for two or three years, and it seems very strange that sensible business and professional men should take so long a time to settle a matter which is of so much importance to a great many take so long a time to settle a matter which is of so much importance to a great many citizens and is simple a matter to settle. The regular pay roll of the city, amounting to $2,700, was read and ordered paid. A little other business of no special importance was transacted and the council adjourned until a week from Monday night. The adjourning was late owing to the long and unprofitable discussions that took place. Russian Outrages on Jews. LONDON, Aug. 5. - Advices have been received here giving another illustration of bitter hostility against the Jews in Russia This occurred at Elizabetgred, on Ingool river, 130 miles north of Kherson. Several thousand farm laborers, small land nolders and others engaged in agricultural occupations in the country surrounding Elizabetgred, proceeded to the Jewish quarter. Amid cries of "Kill the Jews" thousands of Yokels descended upon the cowering victims. They attacked the Jewish shops and dwellings, driving the owners from them, or holding them powerless to defend themselves or the property, plundered them of everything valuable. What was considered not worth stealing was wantonly destroyed. Three Jews were killed. Many others were seriously wounded. The authorities did not take a single step to prevent the outrages. A Mrs. Madden withessed the atrocious set and called to the men, and Mr. Heath also witnessed it. One of the men went into the house and upon discovering the serious nature of the injuries he ran out. The flends then drove on, leaving the almost lifeless body of the little boy lying in the dust. He was picked up and taken to Mr. Woods' house and Dr. Brown was called to attend him. The boy steadily grew worse and last night the doctor gave up all hopes of saving his life. It is believed that the lady who witnessed the affair knows who the men are who were in the wagon, and it is to be hoped that they will not be allowed to go unwhipped of justice. If the statement of Mr. Woods is true and the boy dies, the perpetrators of the outrage will come pretty near being murderers.
